The lunch hour can be a critical time of day for behaviour. What are your golden rules for the role of lunchtime or dinner supervisors? QUESTION: The lunch hour can be a critical time of day for behaviour.

Midday Supervisors will need to be mindful of this and be flexible in their approach. Although children have been to the toilet at the start of lunch, they may also need to go to the toilet during lunchtime.

Supervisors can't introduce all these suggestions without the support of the whole school community (caterers, school leaders, parents and teachers) Getting the schools to prioritise and invest in lunchtime is quite challenging.

The Supervisor's Handbook provides information for new supervisors and/or managers to improve their understanding of federal civilian human resource management laws and processes. This handbook is designed for military or civilian supervisors of US federal employees, who have authority to
