But Never Jam Today was a 1979 musical with music by Bert Keyes and Bob Larimer, lyrics by Larimer, and a book by both Larimer and Vinnette Carroll. The musical is based on the works of Lewis Carroll, and takes its title from the "jam tomorrow" discussion in Through the Looking-Glass.

If there is one day of the week that we enjoy more than the other six, today never seems to be that day. The proverb is a quotation from Through the Looking-Glass by Lewis Carroll.

From the very beginning of his story God has been doing the impossible. He created the universe and everything in it, including the first man, from nothing.

John Maynard Keynes also makes use of the image of "never jam today" in order to portray vividly the tendency to excessive saving which may lead to economic stagnation:
