When leaving a job, whether your employer fired you or you finally decided to quit the one you've hated for a while, your anger may threaten to take over.

No one tells you that during your rape, you might feel pleasure, which is horrifying to you. No one tells you it will take months of therapy to understand this, and it may be a reason why someone didn't report it. No one tells you that pleasure is an automatic response your body has to sex and that often, a woman who has been raped felt pleasure during it. People will say it isn't rape if you enjoyed it. People are also idiots.
